DISCLOSINGTHETRUTH

Schley Court of Inquiry Resumes Its Probing Process.

REAR ADMIRAL COTTON ON THE STAND

He Delivered the Dispatches Which Schley Said He Could Not Obey. Claim Made That Schley's Reply Was Garbled.

Washington, Sept. 25.-When the Schley court of inquiry reconvened at the navy yards there was general comment upon the fact that the seat which had been occupied from the beginning of the sittings by Judge Jere Wilson was vacant. He had endeared himself not only to the members of the court, but to all persons about the court, and sorrow was shown on every countenance. Comment upon his sudden taking off was very general throughout the court room. The business of the court, however, was promptly resumed at the usual hour. In answer to a question, Admiral Schley stated that since the death of Judge Wilson, Isidor Raynor would be the leading counsel in his case, assisted by Captain James Parker of New Jersey, and by M. A. Teague of Baltimore as an expert assistant. Mr. Rayner will continue the cross-examination of witnesses as he has been doing and the other men will continue in the same capacity they occupied up to the time of Judge Wilson's death. Mr. Rayner stated that if it became necessary in the preparation or abstracting of the volumnous documents in the case to employ assistant counsel, or if he should be unavoidably absent at any time, proper arrangements will be made for that purpose.

Maps of the Sea Fight.

The wall back of the court was adorned with a chart on a large scale, showing the ground site of the battle off Santiago July 3. The southern coast of Cuba in the vicinity of Santiago was plainly marked and the points at which the Spanish ships went to the bottom or to the shore were all indicated in plain lettering. There were also a number of transparent charts standing about in the rear of the room and which were intended to illustrate the various phases of the Santiago campaign. All these had been prepared with a view of expediting the work of the court and all were on a large scale. The first witness was A. B. Claxton, the machinist on board the Texas who had begun his testimony when the sittings of the court were so abrubtly terminated by the death of Judge Wilson. Mr. Claxton said that July 23, 1898, he had been on duty in the engine room of the Texas. The engine indicator had called for full speed early in the morning, which had, within an hour after the beginning of the action been changed to "full speed astern." To his kowledge there had been no signal for the reversal of the engines. He said that he had been excused from service in the machine room, but he still knew that the engines were reversed about two minutes. Witness said the engine was stopped.

"What was the next change made in the indicator of the port engine of the Texas?" he was asked. "Full speed ahead."

'What was the next after that?" "There was no other order given for some time afterward."

"When was a further signal received by the indicator and what was the signal?" "Within the first hour of the engagement the direction was changed to full speed astern."

"Can you give an estimate of the time when the signal was given for full speed astern and how long after the beginning of the action" should say within the first hour."

"Was there any other signal given during that watch within your knowledge for the port engine to reverse?" "There was none to my knowledge."

"You were on duty in the port engine room throughout that day, were you not?" "Off and on, sir."

"Where else were you on duty, if anywhere, at that time?" "I was excused for a time on account of heat."

"As a matter of fact were the engines reversed?" "They were for about two minutes." Mr. Claxton was not questioned by Mr. Raynor.

Rear Admiral Cotton Testifies. Rear Admiral Cotton, now commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, who commanded the auxiliary cruiser Harvard during the Spanish was, was the next witness. He told of meeting the "flying squaaron" under Commodore Schley off Santiago May 27, 1898, and said that he delivered dispatches that day to Commodore Schley from Admiral Sampson and the navy department. He said he boarded the Brooklyn about 10:30 o'clock. ine weather was then moderate and he had no difficulty in going aboard the Brooklyn from his boat. He had worn his sword.

"What conversation took place between yourself and Admiral Schley?" asked Captain Lemly. "It will be impossible for me to state the entire con- tiago, Cuba. (Signed) Long." versation," the wtness replied. "I was about 10:30 to about noon. The conversation naturally covered a very wide range, the most important part partment. of which was of course relative to dispatches I had delivered."

"What was said about the dispatch es?" "I delivered to Commodere Schley the original cipher in which the dispatches had been received by me at St. Nicholas Mole, together with translation of those dispatches made by Lieutenant Beall of the Harvard. I handed them personally to him in his cabin in the order of their date. He received them, read them and commented in a general way upon their purport; spoke of the difficulty he nad at Cienfuegos and subsequently to the date of which I am speaking, May 27, and said it had been an almost impossibility to get coal on board on account of the weather. He questioned me relauve to the practicability of changes. coaling surps at St. Nicholas Mole and Gonaives channel. As to St. Nicholas Mole, I said: 'There is no question the small ships can coal there. As to Gonaives channel, I know of no reason why you should not be able to coal there.' The commodore made some remarks upon my statements, the lar guage of which I do not recall, but he at St. Nicholas Mole?" I said 'You can't coal your big ships there.' I had special reference in my reply to the battleships and protected cruisers of the Brooklyn and New York class. 1 ship had been there and was of some 12,000 tons displacement and ne. ly 600 feet in length: 'Possibly under favorable circumstances you might be able to coal the large ships there one at a time, but the area of deep water for the anchorage of large ships is so little there it was not practicable to coal at the very utmost more than one large ship at a time. In case the weather became bad she would iminediately have to go to sea. I was anxious while I was there with the Harvard, on account of her size and I would have left at once in case bad weather had come on. As I remember, I recollect no qualification as to Gonaives channel."

about going to Keywes for coal. "Returning to what I said with reference to the difficulty which Commodore Schley stated to me he had in getting coal on board the ships at Cienfuegos, he said he was very anxious. The coal supply was getting short, the weather was bad and it had been bad almost continuously. It was a ve serious problem as to how or whether he could possibly get coal on board ships off Santiago. He said if he found the weather did not improve and he found it impracticable to coal there he could only see one resort and that was he would be compelled to return to Keywest in order to supply his ships with coal. Having that question in view he was apprehensive, especially as to one ship, the Texas. He did not even know at that moment coal to enable here to return to Keywest. During my visit he gave an order to make a signal, a general signal as I remember it, not limited to the flying squadron alone, to report whether the ships had sufficient coal to reach Keywest. The signal was made, or at least, I assume it was made. At all events during my presence with Commodore Schley he received a "" port to the effect that all ships incluiing the Texas had sufficient coal to return to Keywest. I think the commodore was very much relieved when he received this information. Shortly afterward, I should say within a few minutes, he directed a signal to me made preparatory for the ships to return to Keywest. The order was given in a general way. I cannot give the words of that order, but what I stated was their purport." Official Dispatches.

In response to further questions, Admiral Cotton said that he had the original translations of the cipher dispatches addressed to the Harvard. The dispatch of May 25 was then read to him as follows:

"Washington, May 25, 1898.-Harvard, St. Nicholas Mole, Hayti.-Proceed at once and inform Schley and also senior officer present off Santiago as follows: All department's information indicate Spanish squadron is still at Santiago. The department looks to you to ascertain facts and that the enemy, if therein, does not leave without a decisive action. Cubans familiar with Santiago say there are landing places five or six nautical miles west from the mouth of harbor and that there insurgents will probably be found and not the Spanish. From the surrounding heights can be seen every vessel in port. As soon as ascertained, notify the department whether enemy is there. Could not squadron and also the Harvard coal from Merrimac leeward of Cape Cruz, Gonaives channel or Mole, Hayti? The department will send coal immediately to Mole. Report without delay situation at San-

Mr. Rayner called attention to the on board, generall speaking, from fact that there were some mate ial changes in the dispatches as printed in the official reports by the navy de-

Admiral Schley's reply to these dispatches, dated May 29, in which he said he could not obey the orders of the department was then read and Mr. Raynor pointed out various changes the language of the dispatches as printed in the official report. He addressed the court briefly concerning these changes. He said that Admiral Schley had spoken of the weather as "boisterous" and that word had been omitted from the printed copy of the dispatches. He also stated that whereas the admiral had said that 9,500 tons had in getting coal on board his shits of coal would be necessary the printed copy made it 10,000 tons. It was also stated in the original that the Harvard was going to Port Royal, whereas Kingston had been inserted in the printed copy. There also were other

Following is the text of the original dispatch sent to the navy department by Commodore Schley: dispatch of May 26 by Harvard off Santiago de Cuba. Merrimac's engine is disabled and she is helpless; am obliged to have her towed to Keywest. Have been absolutely unable to coal the Texas, Marblehead, Vixen and asked me: 'How about the large ships Brooklyn from collier owing to very lough seas and boisterous weather since leaving Keywest. Brooklyn is the only one in squadron having more than sufficient coal to reach Keywest. Impossible to remain off Santiago in said, thinking of the fact that my own present state of coal account of squadron. Not possible to coal leeward of Cape Cruz in summer owing to southwest winds. Harvard just reports to me she has only coal enough to reach Jamaica and she will proceed to Port Royal; also reports only small vessels could coal at Gonaives or Mole, Hayti. Minneapolis has only coal enough to reach Keywest and same of Yale which will tow Merrimac. It is to be regretted that department's orders cannot be obeyed, earnestly as we have all striven to that end. I am forced to return to Keywest via Yucatan channel for coal. Can ascertain nothing concerning enemy. Was obliged to send Eagle to Port Antonio Jamaica, yesterday as she had only "Was anything said at this time 27 tons of coal on board. Will leave St. Paul here. Will require 9,500 tons of coal at Keywest."

Admiral Cotton related a conversation he had with Admiral Schley concerning a proposition of Lieutenant Beall of the Harvard to go ashore and put himself in communication with the Cuban insurgents. He could not, he said, recall the exact words of the conversation, but at all events Mr. Beall had not been ordered ashore.

Judge Advocate Lemley then asked 'After you had delivered the order, and prior to the dispatch which he delivered to you to be sent to Kingston, what efforts did he make to locate Cervera's fleet, to your knowledge?"

"None,to my knowledge." "Referring to that phrase in the dispatch: 'The department looks to you to ascertain the facts that the enemy, whether she had on board sufficient if there, does not leave without a decisive action,' what within your knowledge did Commodore Schley do in obedience to these instructions?

> "Nothing to my knowleage." "Did he with his squadron at that time approach Santiago?" "He did not. I will qualify that to this extent. The vessels, of course, were not at anchor; they were moving about, but there were no indications of a movement toward the harbor of

After some further minor interrogatories Judge Advocate Lemley started to read dispatches received by Admiral Cotton from Admiral Schley, delivered by the Scorpion.

Mr. Raynor objected to the reading of these dispatches unless Admiral Sampson's dispatch, No. 7, to Admiral Schley should also be read, as, he said, "Admiral Schley's orders were based on that"

At this point Captain Parker remarked that this dispatch would not be found. To this remark Captain Lemly took exceptions, saying that it was out of place for counsel to make such comment. Admiral Dewey sustained the objection.

The order of Admiral Sampson, which is a letter known as the "Dear Schley" letter, was then read.

Cotton Cross-Examined. During the cross-examination by Mr. Raynor court recessed for luncheon, after which the cross-examination continued, but developed nothing of additional importance. Mr. Raynor caned the admiral's at tention to the fact that one of the dispatches which he mad same he deliverered May 27 had been dated at Washington as of that day. This is the dispatch in which Secretary Long had instructed the commander as to the importance of determining explicity whether Cervera's fleet was in San- his sweetheart Mollie Powell at Rolla tiago harbor. The admiral said that Mo. foiled the pursuing posse by shootlivered May 27 he had made a mistake -that it was delivered May 31, after his return from Kingston. Mr. Rayner attempted to have Admiral Cotton say his conversation with Admiral Schley concerning Lieutenant Beall's proposition to go ashore and communicate with the insurgents had occurred May 31 instead of May 27. Witness said this might possibly be the case, but that to his best recollection the conversation occurred May 27. Mr. Rayner explained that May 31, Admiral Schley sent another man ashore to communicate with the Cubans. which would explain Admiral Schley's declination of Lieutenant Beall's proposition to send a man asnore.

Captain William C. Wise of the auxiliary cruiser Yale followed Admiral Cotton, and was on the stanu when court recessed till morning.

OF ASIATIC ORIGIN. Cliff Dwellers and Mound Builders Two Distinct Tribes.

Durango, Colo., Sept. 25.-Leopoldo Batres, a scientist representing the government of Mexico, is in Durango on his way to Mexico from a visit to ruins of cliff dwellers in the Moncos canon. Senor Batres has fully satisfied himself that the inhabitants of the cliffs were of Asiatic origin, as he found many baskets and other trinkets of Asiatic and Japanese uesign. He thinks the mound builders and cliff dwellers after leaving this section dwellers after leaving as section migrated to Mexico, going through Arizona, where indications of their stoppage en route are found. In Mexico they comprised the original Toltecs and built cities. That this is so is verified by legends and inscriptions Senor Batres found on some of the walls of the rooms.

Anarchists Arrested.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 25.-Charles Govan, James W. Adams and James L. Larkin, members of the Home anarchist colony in this county, have have been arrested under an indictment found by the federal grand jury at Spokane charging them with depositing in the mails an obsene newspaper. The prisoners were brought to Tacoma and committed to jail pending examination. An indictment was also returned against G. Morong, whom it is claimed was the author of the objectionause article. Morong is now in Massachusetts, but will be arrested and brought here for trial. The newspaper in question advocates anarchy and free love.

Period of Official Mourning.

Washington, Sept. 25.-Secretary Cortelyou announced that President Roosevelt would not hold any omcial functions at the White House until the public reception New Year's day. After that date the receptions will take place as formerly. Formal calls of organizations and officials in a body will be declined until after 30 days from the late president's death. The flag on the executive mansion will fly at half mast and mourning papers will be used by the heads of the departments for a period of 30 days.

Pug's Fatal Blow.

New York, Sept. 25.—George Johnson, colored, 37, of Brooklyn, died from the effects of a blow on the point of the jaw received in a friendly bout with Tommy West the welter weight pugilist at the latter's training quarters where West was getting himself into condition for a contest at Fort Erie, Canaua, with Al Weig. Johnson was taken to a hospital and never regained consciousness except for a few minutes after arriving there. West was placed under arrest and held without bail on a charge of homicide.

VISIT WITH ASSASSIN.

Father, Brother and Sister of Czolgosz Granted an Interview.

THEY DID NOT STAY VERY LONG.

Prisoner Talked Freely But Gave No Information Tending to Criminate Any One ln a Plot to Kill President McKinley.

Buffalo. Sept. 20.-Paul, Waldeck and Victoria Czolgosz, father brother and sister of Leon Czolsosz, the assassin of President McKinley, were granted an interview with the prisoner in the Erie county jail. Frederick Haller, assistant district attorney, and P. V. Cussack, assistant superintendent of police, were present under instructions of District Attorney Penny.

The interview between the assassin and his father, brother and sister lasted 35 minutes, but no information leading to the implication of any one else in an anarchist plot to kill the president was given by the prisoner.

"We learned nothing that we did not know before," said Mr. Haller, the assistant district attorney, at the caclusion of the conference. He talked more than he had at any previous time but even to his family he was not very communicative." Several times when he was pressed to tell the true story of the assassination, the prisoner repeated the words: "I did it alone; there was no one else." The prisoner asked nothing about the other members of his family or his friends and did not give any evidence of sorrow or regret over his act. The father and brother were affected naturally over the meeting, but they gave little outward evidence of it. The sister cried all of the time, but the prisoner gave no evidence of feeling aside from saying that he was glad he could see them.

The prisoner's relatives returned to Cleveland immediately after the in-

BACKWARD ABOUT RETTING. Cockney Sports Seem to Lack Faith In Lipton's Yacht.

London, Sept. 25.—The betting in London shows how slim are regarded the shances of the Shamrock II lifting the America's cup. There is such difficulty to find takers that after 50 to 40 was twice laid, the Columbia admirers were obliged to raise odds 110 to 80. Even this did not attract the betting men. The general public is apathetic. The long, optimistic special dispatches from New York fail to convince. The newspapers here are trying to awaken interest in the race by more or less colorable imitations of American newspaper methods, in announcing the progress of the cup races by electrical devices and firework signals, one paper having arranged to run a couple of launches with green and red lights respectively on the Thames.

MacArthur's Opinion.

Milwaukee, Sept. 25 .- General Arthur MacArthur, who recently returned from Manilla, says the conquion in the Philippines are favorable for the ideas of a republic. At an informal reception accorded him by the chamber of commerce he made a brief address in which he said in part: 'To my mind the beauty of our possessions at Manilla lies in the planting of American ideas of beneficence in the eastern world. We are planuing imperishable ideas, in that great eastern country. We are carrying the doctrine of personal liberty there and wherever the nag of the United States in the process of just advancement is once planted it is going to stay forever. The conditions there are favorable for the ideas of a republic."

I advise every suffering woman to take Wine of Cardui. While I was going with my other children I was compelled to stay in bed for days at a time, but this time I have taken Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught and have been able to do all my housework without any trouble. I am expecting every day to be confined. My husband thinks Wine of Cardui is the best medicine in the world. He takes a dose of Thedford's Black-Draught every night and gives some to the children. He has not lost a day from work this year. He tells his friends about your wonderful medicines and I tell my lady friends to use your Wine of Cardui.

Mrs. GEORGIA LEE.

WINE OF CARDU

There are thousands of women who shrink

in terror at the thought of the baby's coming.

But childbirth is one of the workings of Nature and it was not intended to imply torture and agony to the heroic mothers of the race. The woman who suffers torture during pregnancy cretion, injured the organs which make her a woman. Neglect of menstrual irregularities leads to ovarian pains, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea, and the period of pregnancy is necessarily distressing under those conditions. Wine of Cardui will regulate the menstrual function perfectly and eventually make the generative organs strong and healthy. Pregnancy and childbirth have no terrors for the woman who takes this pure Wine. A strong healthy womb will bring its precious burden to maturity with little or no pain. A healthy woman need not fear childbirth. Wine of Cardui completely cures all these troubles familiarly known as "female diseases" and equips the sensitive generative organs for pregnancy and childbirth. It will save any mother much pain and suffering. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.
